Report on the State of Public Libraries in Nigeria

Introduction

Access to information is a basic right that people must have for human development and Information Communication Technology (ICT) is the driver of the information economy. It contributes meaningfully to knowledge management; allowing seamless communication of information and intelligence; foster increased access to information and enhances faster retrieval and dissemination of information. For Nigeria to be a key player in this global economy, ICT facilities should be effectively and efficiently deployed.

It is against this background that the Librarians' Registration Council of Nigeria (LRCN) paid a courtesy visit to the Minister of Communication Technology to explore areas of collaboration with the Ministry and its agencies. The Council is aware and appreciates the efforts of the Ministry in seeing that Nigeria is counted as one of the IT nations in the world by its ICT interventions in various universities, secondary schools and public libraries and other service centres.

The objectives of the report include:

- To provide data on the state of Public Libraries in Nigeria
- To provide data for mapping of Public Libraries in Nigeria
- Provide data on Public Libraries to enhance decision-making on policy issues

To achieve these, the Council conducted a survey of public libraries in Nigeria using a structured questionnaire sent to the libraries by e-mail. Where necessary, the Council sort clarification and interviewed the respondents on phone and through face to face visits. To determine the state of Libraries, questions were restricted to: ICT status, print resources, e-resources, staffing and number of branches.

Recommendation

The survey revealed that there are 316 Public Libraries in Nigeria with 598 qualified Librarians. In general many of the Libraries lack the necessary ICT facilities to provide quality service delivery in the information society. The Council recommends that Librarians in Public Libraries be adequately to use ICT facilities. This will increase traffic in Public Libraries which is the "people's university". The rural populace will also benefit as most of them do not have the purchasing power to have these ICT facilities in their homes.

A summary of the result is presented in Table 1-4 while the detained result is presented appendixes 1-8. A mapping of Public Libraries in Nigeria is presented in appendix 9.
